Musical group "Pale" film music video in north Deer Park

Last Thursday a warehouse located on Fourth and Center Street looked more like a modern movie set than an industrial storage space.

The band "Pale," who is signed by record label "A-Blake Records," owned by local businessman Blake Barnes, was using a warehouse, which is owned and was donated by Deer Park Lumber owner Dean Lawther, to shoot a promotional music video for the group.

Thursday's shoot was an all day affair with a full film crew, make up artists, band members, directors, and record label owners all present to see the production—which according to Barnes can cost up to an estimated $75,000 to complete.

Pale—made up of a quartet of Houston-area musicians is promoting their latest CD, entitled "In the Time of Dangerous men." More information on the group can be found at www.ablakerecords.com or at www.palerocks.com.

"Click it or Ticket" program in full swing

From city of Deer Park website.

From May 23 to June 5, DPS troopers and law enforcement officers across the state, including the Deer Park Police Department, are participating in the 10th annual "Click It or Ticket" enforcement mobilization.

"State law requires everyone in the vehicle to be restrained no matter where they are seated," said Assistant Director David G. Baker, who is the Chief of the Texas Highway Patrol. "Seat belts save lives, and that is the primary reason to buckle up, but we will have a zero-tolerance policy during this period, and violators will be ticketed if need be."

Since the "Click It or Ticket" campaign began in 2002, Texas seat belt usage has climbed from 76.1 percent to 93.8 percent. Experts at the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration estimate that this increase has resulted in 2,843 fewer traffic fatalities and 48,000 fewer serious injuries in Texas the past 10 years.

Despite these gains, just under half of the 3,089 people who died in Texas traffic crashes in 2009 were not properly buck-
